An RMA is not a credit; it is an authorization to return product. Returned products will be inspected prior to approval of credit. Returned goods will not be accepted after thirty (30) days have passed from date of purchase.

client returns

Retail product returned due to client dissatisfaction will be replaced at no charge with one of the same product. No substitutions or credit-on-account will be allowed.

security interest

We retain a security interest under the Uniform Commercial Code in each item of merchandise you purchase, until that item is paid in full. This security interest permits us, under certain circumstances provided for by law, to take back, or repossess, the merchandise if you do not pay for it as invoiced.

collection costs

Should the seller be required to bring legal action to effect collection of any amounts due, including returned checks, the customer agrees to pay all related costs, expenses and reasonable attorneys' fees. Additional fines and/or charges may be imposed by the customer's state, as defined by state statute.
